DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

- The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:
 The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.
- 2. Claims 1-12 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Claim 1 is indefinite because it is unclear what is intended by the following limitation: "... consists essentially of at least 80wt% perfect prepolymers and less 2 wt% free isocyanate monomer". Is the recited weight % based on the total weight of an adhesive composition, based on the amount of prepolymers, etc.? Does the limitation "at least 80wt% perfect prepolymers" intended to read on: a) a prepolymer comprising at least 80 wt% perfect prepolymer and at most 20 wt% non-perfect prepolymer (i.e. oligomer) based on the total weight of the prepolymer or b) at least 80 wt% of perfect prepolymer is based on a total weight of an adhesive composition, wherein the prepolymer is 100% perfect prepolymer? For the purpose of examining this claim, it is assumed that this limitation requires the former (i.e. a prepolymer comprising at least 80 wt% perfect prepolymer and at most 20 wt% non-perfect prepolymer based on the total weight of a prepolymer).

Claim 6 is indefinite, because it is unclear how this claim which is dependent on claim 5 further limit claim 5. The limitation in this claim is identical to claim 5. Claim 12 is indefinite for essentially the same reason as claim 6.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

- 3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:
 - (a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negatived by the manner in which the invention was made.
- 4. Claims 1-12 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Cody et al (US 5,075,407) in view of Krebs et al (US 5,880,167).

With respect to claims 1-3, Cody et al teaches a liquid (Type 2) polyurethane foamable structural adhesive composition comprising a polyisocyanate (NCO), most preferably a diol (i.e. a functionality of 2) and a catalyst, wherein the equivalent NCO:OH ratio is most preferably about 2:1 (i.e. 100% perfect prepolymer, since the functionality of OH is 2, and NCO:OH ratio is 2) (abstract; col. 2 lines 41-64; col. 4 lines 25-67; col. 5 lines 16-53; col. 6 lines 6-14; col. 43-64; col. 7 lines 1-31). Cody et al also teaches decreasing the amount of free isocyanate content until it reaches within a target range of about ± 0.1% NCO (col. 4 line 14 to col. 7 line 32). In example 1, the amount of free isocyanate is about 2.05%.

Cody et al does not appear teach a free isocyanate target range content of less than 2 weight percent. However, it would have been obvious in the art to form a polyurethane foamable structural adhesive taught by Cody et al such that, a free isocyanate content is less than 2% by weight, because Krebs et al teaches the importance of reducing a residual free polyisocyanate content in making a polyurethane foamable adhesive comprising about 50-90 wt% of isocyanate prepolymer, the adhesive has less than 1% by weight of free di-isocyanate monomers (col. 2 lines 17-40; col. 8 lines 37-65); and also teaches obtaining a residual isocyanate monomer content of .16% by weight in example 15.

With respect to claims 4-6, see column 4 line 27 to column 5 line 53 of the Cody et al patent.

With respect to claims 7-16, it is implicitly understood that one in the art would inherently perform the recited process in claim 7, when two substrates are being joined or sealed using the polyurethane adhesive taught by Cody et al. As for claims 8-16, these claims are mere repetition of the above rejected claims. For the same reasons set forth above, these claims would have been obvious in the art.

Response to Arguments

5. Applicant's arguments with respect to claim 1 has been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.
